

Fun Places, Smiling Faces

Camp programs help to maintain educational momentum for students with disabilities during extended breaks throughout the year. Camps give students the opportunity to interact with other kids, develop friendships, and relationships which can lead to increased confidence and independence.

The Special Education Foundation's (SEF) Kid-to-Camp program helps provide funding for families with students with disabilities served by the Special School District (SSD) who may be burdened by additional expenses. Camperships are awarded based on financial need and student benefits.

How It Works

- A parent or guardian completes a Kid-to-Camp application through the SEF website.
- A most recent parent/guardian 1040 tax form (pages 1-2) must accompany the campership application.
- Two letters of recommendation are required: one must be from the student's teacher.
- Funding awarded is only applied to the camp fee; other fees, such as registration or transportation, are not covered.
- SEF will notify parents, and funds will be sent directly to the camp once the student is enrolled.

With the Kid-to-Camp program, attending camp can provide students with continuity and benefits beyond the social and educational aspects of the classroom. Camperships are funded through our annual golf tournament and by personal donations. Learn more about SEF's Kid-to-Camp program and how to apply.

“Thank you for the generous gift so that our son could attend camp. He came back feeling more confident in himself and his abilities to interact with people. What a wonderful gift!” ~ The Hente Family
