Special Education is costly;
having a disability is expensive.

Today, the Special School District serves more than 25,000 students with disabilities throughout St. Louis County—each with unique needs and unlimited potential. Meeting those needs requires more than what public funding alone can provide. That's where the Special Education Foundation steps in.

Independent from the District and funded entirely by private donations, our Foundation bridges the gap—delivering critical resources that empower students to succeed in the classroom and beyond.
